GOVERNOR HEARS WAITERS, POLICE CAUTION PROMISED

Says He Will Direct That Duty at Scene of Strike Is Merely to Keep Order.

24 AFFIDAVITS SUBMITTED

Strikers Refuse to Go to Hotels and the Session Is Held in the City Hall.

Gov. Major met a delegation representing the striking waiters in the Election Commission's office Wednesday morning and heard complaints regarding alleged persecution of the strikers by the police. He promised to instruct the Police Commissioners that there should be no persecution of the men, and that the duty of the police is merely to preserve order.

Edward W. Floristel was present as attorney for the strikers. The delegation was headed by J. P. McDonough, who did most of the talking. The others present were James Shanessy, Fay Henderson, George Miller and George Ringler.

Waiters Refuse to Meet at Hotel. Rooms had been reserved for the Governor at the Planters Hotel, but the conference was held in the city hall because the men refused to meet at any of the hotels, on account of the attitude of the hotel men in the strike situation.

McDonough turned over to Gov. Major 24 affidavits in which striking waiters accused policemen of having beaten them. He said that two of the men were so severely hurt that their backs are black and blue.

Of 40 men arrested, McDonough said, 35 had been discharged in the police courts because no case could be made out against them.

President Samuel B. McPheeters of the Police Board was characterized by McDonough as unfit for the position. The speaker said members of the Police Board, when complaints are made to them against alleged mistreatment of the strikers by policemen, appeared to take little interest in the charges.

"They act as if they are filled with ice water," McDonough remarked. McDonough told the Governor that Sgt. Flannigan of the Police Department has been instructed to break the strike at any cost.

Governor Hopes for Order. The Governor expressed himself as sorry that such conditions have come about. He said he always liked the waiters and had served him in St. Louis and regarded them as "good fellows."

He said he hoped no further trouble would ensue, and in response to McDonough's urgent request, he gave his promise that he would instruct the Police Board to order the police to refrain from any acts of unnecessary severity.

The Governor also said that he would examine the 24 affidavits charging persecution and would investigate the stories as soon as possible.

Edward F. Goitra, Democratic National Committee member from Missouri; George D. Markham and Sam D. Capen, insurance men, met the Governor at Union Station. They took him to a private dining room in the Terminal Hotel, where he discussed the insurance situation while at breakfast.

Major to Back Excise Commissioner in Any Policy He Adopts. Following a conference with Excise Commissioner Thomas L. Anderson, Gov. Major said that he expects to stand by the Excise Commissioner in any policy he adopts.

He was asked by a reporter whether the record of Anderson in restoring 3000 licenses after he had revoked them, within the last four months, as published in the Post-Dispatch, had been discussed at the conference.

"No, that was not taken up," the Governor replied. The Governor was asked about dispatches from Jefferson, Mo., in which he was quoted as saying that he would require State officials rigidly to enforce the dramsop law, laws throughout the State, and was asked if that rule would be made to apply to St. Louis.

"Yes, that must apply here," he said. All Up to Anderson. He was asked if in his opinion the Excise Commissioner was rigidly enforcing the law when he restored licenses to saloon keepers after revoking them for violations of the law.

"Well, the Governor replied, 'That is up to the commissioner. I appointed him, and I expect to stand by him.' When asked if he had read the printed record of licenses restored in St. Louis, he replied:

"No, I have not read that. I don't read all of the news in the papers."

The Governor was asked how he distinguished between the news he desired to read and the news he did not deem worthy of attention.

"I have no set rule for deciding what news and what is not news," he said. "I don't have time to read all of the happenings of the day."

In regard to news published concerning action of State officials and persons appointed by him, the Governor smiled and said: "Yes, I guess that would come under the heading of good news."

Anderson Joins Governor. About this time Excise Commissioner Anderson joined the group, and Gov. Major said to him:

"I have just told these men that as long as you are Excise Commissioner I'll stand by you."

"That's nice," Anderson replied as he shook hands with the Governor. They chatted a few moments before Anderson returned to his office.

RICH AMERICAN WIDOW WHO MARRIES IN PARIS

ROLL DOWN BANK CURES LAZY HORSE OF 'ILLNESS'

Clayton Delivery Animal, Formerly Polo Pony, Limp Painfully to Avoid Work.

"Nellie," a delivery horse of Clayton, either is an expert dissembler or her ailments are such that they baffle veterinary surgeons. Tuesday after a vacation of three weeks she pulled the light delivery wagon willingly until she was about to be taken over the route again in the evening, when she lay down on the ground and groaned.

Dr. C. A. Newton, a veterinary, worked with the animal two hours, took her temperature and looked for symptoms of various ailments, but found none. He declared Nellie was "rolling," but she refused to get up. Several spectators then helped roll the horse down a small embankment.

This aroused Nellie's anger and she jumped up and kicked her heels about the barnlot. Her owner, William Schoepker, a grocer, announced that Nellie's vacation will not be extended.

Nellie was once a polo pony. One of her specialties has been to pretend to be lame, in order to get a holiday or extended vacation. Sometimes the limp was in the left hind foot, and occasionally it shifted to the right hind foot. On each occasion a veterinary said the animal was in good health.

12 LAWYERS SERVE AS JURY IN DIVORCE CASE

Verdict for Husband of Jewish Actress, Also One Against Being Jurors Again.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Twelve New York lawyers have discovered how it feels to be jurors. Sitting in the case of Max Gabel, a theatrical manager, against Mrs. Ida Gabel, an actress performing in Jewish theaters, for the sake of novelty, they waived their privileges and agreed to serve.

Considerable amusement was caused in court. Most of the lawyer jurors took a hand in the cross-examination of the witnesses, and one attorney became so interested that he forgot himself and said: "I object."

After being looked up in a stuffy room for three hours, and having to go without their supper, the lawyers also came to the verdict of "never again" on the question of serving as jurors.

C. P. HUNTINGTON'S WIDOW WEDS HER HUSBAND'S NEPHEW

Mrs. Arabella D. Huntington and Henry E. Huntington Wed in Paris.

HE IS AN HEIR OF MAGNATE

Ceremony Performed in American Church—Wealthy Railway Man Died in August, 1900.

PARIS, July 16.—Mrs. Arabella D. Huntington, widow of the late Collis P. Huntington of New York, and Henry E. Huntington, railroad man of New York and Los Angeles, were married today at the American Church in the Rue de Berri.

Collis P. Huntington, who died in August, 1900, left a fortune estimated at many millions to his wife, his adopted son, Archer M. Huntington, his nephew, Henry E. Huntington, and his daughter, Clara Huntington, now widow of Prince Francis of Hatfield-Wildenburg.

The bridegroom of today's ceremony is a nephew of the bride's late husband. He is one of the leading railroad men of the West and is believed to have great wealth. He has had charge of the Huntington estate.

Marriage of Huntingtons Causes No Surprise in Los Angeles. LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 16.—The marriage of Henry E. Huntington to the widow of his uncle, the late Collis P. Huntington, in Paris today caused no surprise here, where the engagement had been repeatedly reported and as often denied. Huntington recently completed a great mansion near Pasadena and filled it with art works, and is expected soon to occupy the place.

Huntington at one time controlled all the electric railways in and about Los Angeles, but recently transferred his interests to the Southern Pacific Railroad. He retained a controlling interest in the Los Angeles Street Railway.

BRIDE, 17, SUES TO ANNUL HER SECRET MARRIAGE TO BOY

Louis Pim, Stepfather of Former Miss Ladd, Files the Action as Next Friend.

BRIDEGROOM AN ACTOR

Girl Alleges Youth Persuaded Her to Wed on Promise to Make Her a Great Actress.

A secret marriage performed at St. Charles, May 3, was revealed Wednesday by a suit in the Circuit Court in St. Louis to annul it, filed for the bride, Mrs. Pelagie Berthold Goodrich, 17 years old.

Mrs. Goodrich, whose maiden name was Pelagie Berthold Ladd, charges that her husband, Leon Goodrich, aged 19, an actor, persuaded her to marry him on a promise that he would make her one of the world's greatest actresses if she would become his wife.

It is charged in the suit that she was a minor, that her mind was immature and that Goodrich, by means of his persuasive powers, obtained complete control of her will.

Separated Since Wedding. Because she is a minor the suit was filed by her stepfather, Louis Pim, as next friend. The girl's mother is Mrs. Edwin Bixby Pim. Louis Pim is of an old St. Louis family, as is Mrs. Pim, whose first husband, Berthold Ladd, also was well known in St. Louis society.

According to the petition, Miss Ladd and Goodrich stole out to St. Charles and were married there, the bride giving her name as Edwin Burns. On their return to St. Louis the bride separated, Mrs. Goodrich going to the home of her mother and stepfather. They have been separated ever since, the bride declares.

The petition says that when the pair told intimate friends of what they had done they were told to realize it had been a mistake—that they were too young to marry.

The suit was filed by Attorneys Johnson & Young. Mrs. Goodrich asks the restoration of her maiden name.

Mrs. Goodrich made a Post-Dispatch reporter on the telephone that after she had realized her mistake in marrying and had told Goodrich about it, he had been very considerate of her feelings. He didn't desire to hold her to the marriage if she thought that way about it.

"I first met Mr. Goodrich through some theatrical friends," she said. "He had engaged in amateur theatricals and was interested in acting in that way. I had known Mr. Goodrich about three months before our marriage. He promised to make me a great actress, and I believed he could do it."

Desire for the Stage. "I told my mother about the marriage a short time after our return from St. Charles. She convinced me I had made a great mistake. I went to the country then. Mr. Goodrich and I have been apart since a few hours after the marriage."

A relative of the girl said the family had been greatly distressed by the marriage. Mrs. Goodrich had early shown a desire for the stage, she said, and she thought it was her enthusiasm for theatrical life that led her into this secret marriage.

Friended by the girl's stepfather, the marriage had taken place. "I don't know," she said, "but I do know they were married and I also know that Albert Block was the only sweetheart Margaret Stevens ever had."

Mrs. Block, who is now in the city, was asked if she was secretly married to Mr. Block 10 years before his wife was made.

The reporter asked where the secret marriage had taken place. "I don't know," she said, "but I do know they were married and I also know that Albert Block was the only sweetheart Margaret Stevens ever had."

MRS. BLOCK, HIDING HER IDENTITY, TELLS STORY OF HER LIFE

Speaking as "Mrs. Block's Dear Friend," She Says She Was Married Ten Years Ago.

"RELATIVES KNEW OF IT"

Declares Mrs. Block Was "Dutiful Wife and Block's Relatives Liked Her."

Mrs. Margaret Stevens Block of 6007 Von Versen avenue, who is fighting in court for the fortune left to her by her late husband, Albert S. Block, commission merchant, speaking for herself and yet by proxy, told a Post-Dispatch reporter the story of her life with Block.

When a reporter called at the Block home Tuesday he met a woman who it later developed was Mrs. Block herself, but who posed as a friend of Mrs. Block. She was in the kitchen embroidering a scarf.

Later in the afternoon Mrs. Block was placed in the custody of the Sheriff for refusing to answer questions put to her by Special Commissioner Williams who is hearing evidence in the will contest.

Held in Sheriff's Custody. She was held in the Sheriff's private office at the courthouse for several hours while her attorney applied for a writ of habeas corpus in the Court of Appeals. Later she was released on a bond of $1000 to appear in the Court of Appeals Wednesday.

The habeas corpus suit was laid over until 2 p. m. by Judges Norton and Allen. No return had been made by the Sheriff, who had not expected the case to be tried until the October term of court. Attorney Leahy, representing Mrs. Block, was also under the impression that the case would go over, but Judge Norton said the court was going to adjourn Wednesday for the summer vacation, and did not wish to have the habeas corpus suits hanging fire. Attorney Leahy, representing Block's relatives, said he was prepared.

Mrs. Block was in court dressed in a tight-fitting black suit, black hat and heavy black veil.

"Mrs. Block does not live here at present," said the woman at the Von Versen avenue home, who, the reporter learned, was a friend of Mrs. Block's, "she is in the city at the day at the commissioner's office, was Mrs. Block herself. She has leased her house furnished to me for the summer and she is arranging for a trip abroad. She is stopping at the University car line."

The reporter then told the woman when he called at the home that he wished to get Mrs. Block's story in view of the fact that it had been told by Block's relatives, who are now in the city, that he and Miss Stevens were not married until nine days after he had made his will in favor of his "wife."

"I don't understand why the public should be so much concerned about Mrs. Block's affairs," said the woman. "I think it is a shame the way Mr. Block's brothers are treating her. I have known Mrs. Block since childhood and I know she was secretly married to Mr. Block 10 years before his wife was made."

The reporter asked where the secret marriage had taken place. "I don't know," she said, "but I do know they were married and I also know that Albert Block was the only sweetheart Margaret Stevens ever had."

Barber Is Accused of Aiding Mrs. Crawford to Kill Husband Poisoning Is Alleged

Charges Arise Out of Fight Over $250,000 Estate of Capitalist Dead 4 Years.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 16.—Detention of Fred Lump, a New York barber, charged in a warrant sworn here yesterday with being an accessory to the alleged murder of Joshua D. Crawford, Atlanta capitalist, was requested today in a telegram from local authorities to the New York City police. Efforts will be made to have Lump, if he is apprehended in New York, brought to Atlanta immediately.

Lump was alleged to have been a close friend of Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford, widow of the capitalist, who is under arrest charged with his murder. Crawford left an estate valued at $250,000, to the major portion of which the accused widow was made heir by his will.

It was not until four years after the alleged crime was committed that Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford was charged with having murdered her wealthy husband by giving him morphine and opium.

The accused woman returned to Atlanta from Tucker, Ga., where she had gone on business, at 2 o'clock on the morning of July 13, after she learned that Charles Z. Crawford, one of the heirs-at-law of the dead capitalist, had sworn out a warrant, in which she was charged with the murder. She went immediately to the county jail, surrendered herself to Sheriff C. W. Mangum and was later released on $2500 bond.

Body Examined, Examined. Heirs-at-law of the dead man, who have a civil suit pending in the local courts to have his will set aside, recently had the body of the murdered man buried ground at Carrollton, Ga., and an examination made by Dr. H. T. Harris, secretary of the State Board of Health. Dr. Harris testified last week in the civil suit that he found traces of morphine and meconic acid, an element of opium, in the stomach of Crawford. He asserted that he did not believe death resulted from pneumonia, as was given out at the time.

"Of course, I deny the whole charge," said Mrs. Crawford, when she was arrested. "It is just one thing piled on another to make me spend my money in lawyers' fees and to humiliate and wound me because heirs-at-law of my husband want more than their share of the estate and hate me."

The estate has been in dispute since shortly after Crawford's death in March, 1909.

Mrs. Crawford was married to the dead capitalist in February, 1909, at Jacksonville, Fla., where he had gone on account of ill health. The marriage followed a courtship of less than a month. Crawford roomed and took his meals at the home of the defendant. The acquaintanceship thus began culminated in the marriage.</

MULHALL TELLS OF $500,000 A YEAR USED IN LOBBYING

Says He Has Suggested Postoffice Investigate Defense Council of the N. A. M.

AID GIVEN TO COUDREY

Formed Workmen's Protective Organization in the Congressman's District.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—A fund of $500,000 to $700,000 a year raised by the National Council for Industrial Defense—an adjunct of the National Association of Manufacturers—for opposing legislation the manufacturers did not favor, was described by the Senate Lobby Committee today by Martin M. Mulhall, testified he had no personal knowledge of such a fund, but said that a collector for the organization had recently given those figures to the New York World.

"I often have thought and suggested," said Mulhall, "that the council ought to be investigated by the Postoffice Department. If it were investigated I feel that the gentlemen who run it would have a hard time accounting for the money collected."

The committee did not question Mulhall further on the subject.

Money Paid to Mulhall.

Mulhall swore that money had been paid to him from the fund for political purposes, but did not explain what the purposes were.

Mulhall testified about the work of the association in promoting a tariff commission.

"The association wanted Miles and Schwedman on it and wanted to control it themselves," Mulhall testified. He did not explain who Miles was. Schwedman was secretary to J. W. Van Cleave, then president of the association.

James A. Emery, counsel for the manufacturers, wrote Mulhall on Jan. 16, 1908.

"Doubtless you know we had a tussle on the floor of the House last Saturday, where an attempt was made by the Democrats under cover of an amendment to a conspiracy provision of the revised statutes to enact some of the worst features of the extreme labor legislation now before the Judiciary Committee. Our friends stood firm and the attempt to make campaign thunder was squelched in the most admirable way, and, very happily, a Democrat, Swager Sherley of Kentucky, took the chief part in the defense of the existing law and against the proposed amendment."

$100,000 Was Needed.

Another letter which Mulhall wrote at Indianapolis on June 17, 1908, to Schwedman at St. Louis, reported how "Mr. Watson had a large majority of the machine under his control."

"The convention of the miners will be held here on the 21st," it continued. "They certainly expect Gompers, Dunbar and others. Three of the district presidents from the anthracite districts are my personal friends. I feel I might be able to do good work through those gentlemen, and it is too bad we are short of funds when the convention is coming with the opportunities for use."

Mulhall said J. W. Van Cleave and Schwedman on a train passing through Indianapolis, Jan. 18, 1908, told them of the Watson campaign and spoke about $100,000 being needed.

Canon and Hemenway.

On Jan. 19 Mulhall wrote Schwedman: "Mr. Watson Friday told me that if there was any danger of any class legislation being brought up while he was absent from Washington to have Mr. Emery see Senator Hemenway. He also told me to write Emery and say that Speaker Cannon would receive him at any time and he could talk directly and fully to the Speaker and that everything would be all right."

"I saw Senator Beveridge in the Columbia Club at Indianapolis," testified the Colonel, put his arm around Mr. Parry, one time president of the N. A. M., and said, "This is the man that sent me to the Senate." That was in 1908.

The correspondence brought to light some hitherto unknown facts regarding the identity of the mysterious "Mr. X," who figured in the initial publication of the Mulhall papers in the New York World and the Post-Dispatch. "Mr. X," it turns out, was Atherton Brownell, a publicity agent in New York, "newspaper tipster and one time press agent for the National Association of Manufacturers. Brownell was the head of the 'Century Syndicate'."

Work for Littlefield.

To him, it appears, was entrusted the work of promoting the political fortunes of Littlefield of Maine and the undertaking of assailing Samuel Gompers, the labor chiefdom. Brownell, so it was explained, employed Broughton Brandenburg, a writer, in conjunction with Dr. Crockett, to cajole or coerce Gompers into surrendering to the dictates of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Another interesting detail brought out by the examination of the Colonel was an intimation contained in instructions to Col. Mulhall to hold up certain circumstances until a decision had been rendered by the Supreme Court of the United States in the combined Buck's Stove and Range case. The intimation inspired Senator Reed to ask Col. Mulhall if he knew that the decision was to be favorable to the corporation and against the laboring interests involved. On receiving a negative reply, Senator Reed said:

"Well, it looks as if somebody had advanced information regarding that decision."

Mulhall Meets Parry.

Former President Parry and Col. Mulhall exchanged views regarding the Colonel's confessions. They shook hands. Parry remonstrated with the Colonel for being so nervous.

"Well," replied the Colonel, "I tried to get you gentlemen to clean house inside and to put a stop to the dirty work that had been going on. I wrote you that I would take the matter to the public if you did not throw out some of the men who have been disgracing your organization by making money on honest Congressmen and labor."

Chief Lobbyist Emery has told the committee that he has a carload of documents to place at its disposal. Schwedman said he had brought from St. Louis something like 135,000 communications.

"And I am not ashamed of a single word I ever wrote about the association or its affairs," he said.

Fought by N. A. M. Till Death.

A letter from Representative Charles E. Littlefield of Maine, to Mulhall, dated Sept. 24, 1907, warned the Colonel: "If you cannot succeed in keeping out of the newspapers, you will do me more harm than good."

In referring to the fight against Senator McComas of Maryland, made by the association, Mulhall said he had orders never to let up. "The association fought the Senator up to the time of his death," said the witness.

Mulhall told the committee he had gone with a letter of introduction to Representative Bartholdt of St. Louis on Oct. 29, 1907. The letter was written by Schwedman, he said, and told how prominent Mulhall had been in working for McKinley, Quay, Platt and many other Republican leaders.

"I had a conference with Dr. Bartholdt," said Mulhall, "and told him I was ready to help him any time he would command."

Mulhall also presented a letter of introduction to former Representative Harry Coudrey of the Twelfth Missouri District.

"I met Coudrey," said Mulhall, "and frequently did political work for him. I organized the Workmen's Protective Association in his district, and they were active in behalf of Mr. Coudrey's election to Congress. The constitution and bylaws of this association were written by Schwedman."

Payments to Union Men.

Mulhall told the committee he "was sent out to Indiana by the association in 1909, in the interest of Representative James E. Watson's campaign for Governor. He said that altogether 'some $22,000' was expended during the campaign. 'A Finance Committee of the manufacturers, consisting of Mr. Parry, C. C. Hanch and C. C. Foster, was appointed to collect the money,' he said. 'I employed workers among the labor men. They were all paid for their services.' He said Senator Beveridge was opposed to the election of Watson."

In some of the expense accounts turned in to the National Association of Manufacturers by Col. Mulhall were items relating to payments to trade unionists. In that dated Indianapolis, Jan. 12, 1908, is a memorandum of $20 being paid to a member of the Mine Workers' Union and a member of the Carpenters' Union "for labor performed and services rendered."

Years of Suffering

Oatarrh and Blood Disease.

Doctors Failed to Cure.

Miss Mabel F. Dawkins, 1214 Lafayette st., Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "For years I was troubled with oatarrh and blood disease. I tried several doctors and a dozen different remedies, but none of them did me any good. A friend told me of Wood's Sarsaparilla. I took two bottles of this medicine and was as well and strong as ever. I feel like a different person, and recommend Wood's Sarsaparilla to anyone suffering from oatarrh."

GIRL, 17, BECAME BIGAMIST FOR SAKE OF SON, SHE SAYS

Mrs. Bessie Rendsburg Tells Police She Told Second Husband She Was Divorced.

Mrs. Bessie Rendsburg, 17 years old, arrested in her room, 1615 Locust street, at 2:30 a. m., admitted she had married bigamously, but said she did so for the sake of her 4-month-old baby, whom, she declared, her first husband refused to support.

The arrest was made at the instance of the first husband, Peter Grakoumis, 25 years old. She was married to him in August, 1912, and to Max Rendsburg, a waiter, in May, 1913. She told the police that she is an orphan and that she married Grakoumis on the advice of her foster-mother, a Mrs. Dorris.

Two weeks after the wedding she said he deserted her and was gone 41 days. He returned and she forgave him, but a few days later she told the police that she had married Max Rendsburg to Gay, Ind., she said, and was there when her baby was born.

When she wrote him about the child she said he replied he was not interested. She told her troubles to Rendsburg, assured him she was divorced, and accepted his offer of marriage, she said. Two days ago Grakoumis returned to the city. She declared he had her arrested because she refused to leave her second husband and return to him.

Mrs. Block Tells Her Life Story in Fight for Estate

picture published, anyway. She does not like notoriety, and this will be such a personal matter that I know she just desires having so much said in the newspapers about the affair."

"Why did Mrs. Block continue to use her maiden name all those years she was married to Mr. Block?"

"That is something you will have to get from Mrs. Block herself. All I know about it is that it was a case of religious differences. Mr. Block and Margaret Stevens were childhood sweethearts and Mr. Block's folks were very fond of her. They just could not recognize as binding a marriage between Jew and Gentile."

"Why did the newspapers, if they have to print so much, say something about the deposition given by Mr. Block's father? He said his son was crazy in the head from boyhood."

"Do you think Mr. Block was not mentally sound when he made his will, as his relatives alleged?"

"I think it is ridiculous to assume that Mrs. Block would have married an insane man," said Mrs. Block. "I only know that Mrs. Block was a dutiful wife and that this suit is merely a fight to deprive her of what she justly deserves."

Mrs. Block at her home was attired in white costume and wore white slippers. Later, when she appeared before the Special Commissioner, she was clothed in black from head to foot with a heavy black veil over her face.

Known as "Miss" After Wedding.

It has been brought out in the investigation by attorneys and others of the relations between Block and his wife that for years, under the names of Miss Margaret Stevens and Mrs. Margaret Stevens, she nursed Block in the Haywood Apartments, 4214 Olive street. Although she was married to Block April 17 at Springfield, she continued to be known as Miss and Mrs. Stevens until the latter part of May or the early part of June, when she and Block moved into their own home on Von Versen avenue.

Miss Virginia Smith of the L. Schneider Tailoring Co. at 4210 Olive street expressed surprise when she learned that her former customer, whom she had known only as Mrs. Margaret Stevens, was the wife of Albert S. Block. Miss Smith recalled having seen an invalid man sitting at one of the front windows in Mrs. Stevens' suite every day for a long period, and when Mrs. Stevens referred to the man as her husband, Miss Smith believed his name was Stevens. She never heard the name Block mentioned, she said.

J. H. Chase, janitor of the Haywood, and his wife knew Mrs. Block as Miss Margaret Stevens. Chase said he never heard of Block, they said, accompanying him to his place of business every day and going buggy riding with him at night.

Willis J. Stout, head waiter at the Maryland, was attacked by six men Tuesday night at Olive street and Leonard avenue when he was on his way to his home at 321 Locust street. Stout told the police that the men followed him from downtown on the same street car on which he rode, and that when he left the car they attacked and beat him. He was able to continue to his home after the men had knocked him down and run away.

INEZ MILHOLLAND WED FIRST, THEN INFORMED MOTHER

Surfingette's Father Apprised by Cable, but Was Told Ceremony Had Been Performed.

NO ROMANCE, SHE SAYS

Wedding Planned on Voyage Over and Celebrated as Soon as Regulations Would Permit.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, July 15.—Miss Inez Milholland, suffragist lawyer of New York, was married yesterday at the London Registry office to Eugene von Boleasvain of Amsterdam, to the surprise of many of her friends.

It was first reported that the wedding had taken place Friday and that her family knew nothing about it. This was denied by the bride herself, who said that several members of her family were present. Her mother, however, who lives in Kensington, was not told.

Miss Milholland arrived from New York Monday a week ago, and went to stay with Chevalier Marconi, the wireless inventor, and Mme. Marconi, her fellow passengers, at their house in Richmond Surrey. Von Boleasvain was on the Mauritania with the party, and it was on the voyage that the two, who had only met a short time before, decided to get married as soon as possible. They got the license Friday.

Tells of Her Marriage.

Mrs. von Boleasvain, when seen at her mother's house, looked radiantly happy and beautiful, and said:

"We were married today at the registry office in Marlow's road, Kensington. I had to be married at that office because it is in the parish where I reside. I do not know how the report got out that we were married last Friday unless it was because we called my father then that we had been married. We had to tell him that it had taken place because we knew he would object otherwise."

Von Boleasvain, who speaks good English with a slight accent, broke in at this point.

"You see," he said, "I am what you call a loafer and Mr. Milholland would want some one who worked, but you can say that I am going to work now. I do not know what I shall do, but I shall find something to do when we get back to New York, for which we leave Aug. 15."

"My father is proprietor of the principal paper in Holland, called Algemeen Handelsblad, and my uncle is a banker. I met my wife first some time ago in New York, where she shall live."

"I was introduced to her by Mr. Marconi. We decided during our recent voyage over to get married as soon as possible and as we found we must wait some days after taking out the license Friday, we decided the best thing to do was to go over to see my parents. So my wife, her sister and my brother all went over together. We returned only last night."

Mrs. von Boleasvain then continued the story:

"We had several witnesses, including Mr. Marconi, my sister, Veda; my brother, John, and my brother-in-law. We think it was an extremely matter-of-fact affair. I didn't have time to tell mother, but of course Mr. Marconi was present."

Grateful to Marconi, the bride took him playfully by the lapel of his coat and shook him, saying:

"You had to be there, didn't you, dear old Billy? Why, it was you who made everything possible. You really did all, didn't you, dear old thing?"

Marconi smiled good naturedly, but said nothing. Asked regarding her plans for the future, Mrs. von Boleasvain said:

"My marriage will make no difference in my work. I shall continue my legal work as before and also my efforts for woman's suffrage. Yes, my husband is a strong supporter of it and of the militant movement too, aren't you, dear?" and she patted his head affectionately.

"Yes," he replied, "I am right in the thick of the movement. My sister was president of the Woman's Suffrage Society of Holland and a delegate, who has retired from that position, she has succeeded by my sister-in-law. I am a whole-hearted supporter of the movement."

$2139 VERDICT FOR MRS. PICKEL UPHELD

Judge Norton Sustains Award of Expenses in Efforts to Collect $100 a Month.

Mrs. Ella M. Pickel, whose litigation against her husband, Frederick J. Pickel, for separate maintenance has been in the courts for two and a half years, won a victory in the Court of Appeals Wednesday when Judge Norton affirmed the decision of former Circuit Judge Allen in awarding to her $213.95 to pay the expenses of her efforts to collect $100 monthly maintenance.

Mrs. Pickel in March, 1911, obtained maintenance of $100 a month from Judge Muench's court. She was unable to collect the amount.

Mrs. Pickel complained that her husband never paid her a cent and that she was spending more money than she could afford in getting executions on his property, only to learn that he had transferred the various parcels to his father, William Pickel, president of the Nickel Marble and Granite Co.

Meanwhile Pickel had appealed from Judge Muench's judgment and that is pending in the Court of Appeals.

HOME-MADT FLAG PLANTED AT TOP OF MOUNT M'KINLEY

American Ensign Made of Two Handkerchiefs and Red Cord.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 16.—Mount McKinley, the highest peak in North America, will be given the name of "Denali," an Indian word meaning "The Great One," by Archdeacon Hudson Stuck, Episcopal missionary, whose party was the first to reach the summit of the great peak, is able to prevail upon the National Board of Geographical Names to make the change.

George E. Kilroy, an Alaska newspaperman, who met the party at Tanana on its return from the mountain, and who arrived in Seattle yesterday, said Archdeacon Stuck will go to New York in October to attend the general convention of the Episcopal Church and urge the change in the name of the peak.

According to Kilroy, Archdeacon Stuck collapsed just before the summit was reached and was dragged to the crest by his three companions, all of whom were held together by a rope.

"Archdeacon Stuck was the fourth man on the rope," said Kilroy. "He was literally dragged to the top, where he revived after a few minutes. There was not a flag in the party and R. G. Tatum, a mission worker of Knoxville, Tenn., took his white silk handkerchief and with a red cord from a provision box and a blue handkerchief belonging to another member of the party, made an American flag which was planted on the highest point. A cross made of a dog's runner was carefully whittled out by Archdeacon Stuck after the summit was reached."

If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results from Samose, Dr. Howard Co. will return your money without any quibbling. For sale by Wolf-Wilson Drug Co.—ADV.

10 MEXICANS BEAT MOTORMAN, CAUSE GENERAL FIGHT

They Crowd Women Off Car and Terrify Passengers—Three Arrested.

Ten Mexican laborers engaged in a fight with the crew of an Alton car Tuesday night. Several bystanders went to the assistance of the motorman and conductor and a riot almost resulted.

The Mexicans, who had been drinking, boarded a car on the Alton, Jacksonville & Peoria electric line, bound for Godfrey, about 10 o'clock.

Miss Gertrude Winters, a saleswoman, and another woman were trying to get on the car. Some of the Mexicans crowded ahead of them and they were pushed from the platform, falling in the street.

Passengers ran to the assistance of the women. Meanwhile, Thomas McAnally, in charge of the car, ordered the Mexicans to get off. They attacked McAnally. One of them seized the controller bar from his hand and hit him with it.

McAnally recovered the bar and he felled one of the Mexicans. By this time the fight was general. The Mexicans swore loudly in their own tongue, terrifying the women passengers.

Police arrived finally and arrested three of the men. The others escaped. Peter Dones and Mendonza Alvarado are the names given by two of the prisoners. The third was too badly intoxicated to tell his name. Alvarado had $60 and Dones $80. They wanted to pay their fine at once, but were locked up. As the police dragged them away there were cries of "Lynch the greasers!" from many persons in the crowd.

BULGARIANS SLAY 30,000 MOSLEMS WHO ASK REFUGE

Three Priests of Slavs' Own Faith Attest to Slaughter at Doiran, Near Saloniki.

By Associated Press. SALONIKI, July 16.—Another horrifying story of massacre reached here today from Doiran, a town 60 miles to the northwest of here. Musselmans there have made a written declaration, countersigned by three local Bulgarian priests, that the Bulgarians slaughtered 30,000 Musselmans, who had sought refuge in Doiran from the surrounding districts.

Full confirmation of the reported sack and burning of the Macedonian town of Sereb by the fleeing Bulgarian troops and of the crucifixion, hacking to death or burning alive of many inhabitants, has been sent to the Austro-Hungarian Government by Consul-General August Kral of Saloniki.

Three-fourths of the formerly flourishing town of about 30,000 inhabitants is a mass of smoking ruins, says the Consul-General, who has just returned here from Sereb, where he has thoroughly investigated the situation.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 16.—The Turkish Government is determined to push forward Ottoman troops as far as the stronghold of Adrianople, captured by the Bulgarians after a prolonged siege during the Balkan war.

Although official circles in Constantinople are reticent on the subject, it is understood such a step is planned. The Government intends to take this action not only because of material advantages, but because of the moral effect it will have on Turkey's international situation. It is said, by this means, the position of the Government will be strengthened and consolidated. It is felt that even if the Powers insist on bringing pressure to compel the maintenance of the future frontier line between Turkey and Bulgaria from Enos, on the Aegean Sea, to Midia, on the Black Sea, Turkey will yet be in a position to enforce the autonomy of the province of Thrace.

Thus far, however, the Powers have not addressed any communication to the Turkish Government on the subject of the advance of the Ottoman troops toward the North.

Trains will arrive St. Louis: No. 2 at 8:05 p. m., No. 4 at 8:35 a. m., and train No. 5 at 1:10 p. m.

Nine Persons Hurt in Two Weeks. ZANESVILLE, O., July 16.—Nine persons were injured in two railroad wrecks a few miles apart on the Ohio River & Western Railroad, near here. A passenger train rolled into a ditch at Olive, causing injury to four persons. Five others were hurt in a second wreck, when two trains collided in a tunnel near Parryopolis.

BOSS COX FREED; WAS ACCUSED OF MISUSING FUNDS

Judge Dismisses Charge of Misapplying Trust Company's $115,000.

By Associated Press. CINCINNATI, O., July 16.—Judge Caldwell, in the Common Pleas Court, today granted the motion of the defense and dismissed the case against George B. Cox, former political leader and financier. Cox was on trial on the charge of misapplying $115,000 of the funds of the Cincinnati Trust Co., Cox, former president of the Cincinnati Trust Co., two former officers of the company and eight members of the Board of Directors were indicted on charges of "misapplication" of $115,000 of the bank's money through alleged illegal loans to the Ford & Johnson Chair Co., then in the hands of receivers.

Another charge was the abstraction of a $32,500 note by three officers and six directors of the bank, with intent to injure and defraud the Cincinnati Trust Co.

Those against whom indictments were returned for alleged illegal loans to the Ford & Johnson company were George B. Cox, Charles H. Davis, Norman G. Kenan, James F. Heady, James M. Hutton, N. S. Keith, F. R. Williams and O. V. Parrish.

The following were indicted on the charge of abstracting the $32,500 note: George B. Cox, J. A. Crawford, Charles H. Davis, David C. Edwards, James F. Heady, James M. Hutton, N. S. Keith, F. R. Williams and O. V. Parrish.

The indictment charging the abstraction of the note alleged the men named in the indictment, having control of the funds of the company, converted to their own use a promissory note of the trust company for $32,500, and that the men who were liable for the note, canceled it and entered it as paid in the company's books when it had not been paid.

Each of the nine counts of the indictment, charging misapplication of funds, related to a separate loan to the Ford & Johnson Chair Co., of which President Cox of the trust company also was a director. The total amount of the nine loans was $115,000. It also was claimed that the loans set out in the indictment were only a part of those made to the chair company.

Herrmann Signed His Bonds. August Herrmann, chairman of the National Baseball Commission, signed Cox's bonds, $5000 for each indictment. This was the second grand jury report on the affairs of the trust company. The former one reported Dec. 9 and returned indictments against Keith and Williams.

The trust company was capitalized at $500,000 and under the State laws could not legally loan more than $100,000 to any individual, firm or corporation.

The trial had been in progress three weeks when, at the conclusion of the State's testimony, Attorney Dinamore, for Cox, asked an instructed verdict of not guilty on the ground that the State had failed to make out a sufficient case against Cox to force him to a defense.

The general grounds assigned by Judge Caldwell in his decision today were that there was no evidence that Cox made or authorized the loans of the money of the Cincinnati Trust Co. to the Ford & Johnson Chair Co., or that he intended to injure or defraud the bank.

CHAUFFEUR HELD IN CONNECTION WITH CAFE FIRE

East Side Police Also Trace Purchase of Gasoline, Corks for Which Were in Ruins.

Several additional clues throwing light on the mysterious fire which almost destroyed the Edelweiss Cafe in East St. Louis Tuesday morning were unearthed by the State Fire Marshal, police and detectives in the evening.

George Frazier, a chauffeur, living at 511 North Seventh street, was arrested and held for further investigation.

Henry Kathman, proprietor of the Terrace Garage, several blocks from the Edelweiss, told the police that two young men driving a spring wagon purchased 75 gallons of gasoline from him Monday afternoon.

The men had five-gallon cans decorated with a fresh coat of red paint, Kathman said. The cans previously had contained turpentine and several had a small quantity of turpentine in them at the time. When Kathman called the attention of the men to the fact they replied that it made no difference. Several of the cans bore corks, the tops of which were painted red, Kathman said.

Corks Found in Ruins.
The police, searching the ruins of the saloon, later came across several corks such as had been described by Kathman. The latter was unable to identify any of the prisoners as the men who had purchased the gasoline.

The proprietor of the Benton Cigar Co., 121 Collinsville avenue, told Chief of Detectives Florence that Nick Cantillon, proprietor of the Edelweiss, ordered 1000 cigars from him Monday and that they were delivered at the Edelweiss in the afternoon. Firemen say there were no cigars in the case destroyed in the fire and searchers were unable to find any trace of those ordered by Cantillon.

The State Fire Marshal found two electrical devices of a mysterious nature in the ruins. One was connected with the bar and the other with the back door.

Nick Cantillon and his pianist, Ruth Harris, known in East St. Louis night life as "Salome," after being released on bonds of $5000 and $1500, respectively, gave their version of the telephone conversation which led to their arrest.

Mrs. Marie Hoffman, night operator at the Planters, told the police she heard Cantillon in a room on the tenth floor of the Planters, tell Miss Harris, who was in a room at the St. Regis, Broad-

COMMERCE BOARD ORDERS A FRISCO FAILURE INQUIRY

Carries Out Directions of Congress and Public Hearings Will Be Held in Fall.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Formal order for investigation of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad receivership today was issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission, in accordance with the recent congressional resolution directing such an inquiry.

"No date was set for hearings which are to be held at various cities.

Prior to the introduction of a congressional resolution, the commission had decided to begin an inquiry on its initiative into the operations of the St. Louis & San Francisco and also the Chicago & Eastern Illinois.

Agents of the commission will begin at once an examination of the books and records of the companies with a view to laying the foundation for public proceedings next fall.

French Investigator of Frisco Commission to St. Louis.

PARIS, July 15.—The Minister of Finance some time ago placed M. Depreux, one of his inspectors, in the office of the National Securities Co. for three months to study the situation in regard to the Frisco receivership. He will now send Depreux to St. Louis and New York to collect information in regard to the position of the St. Louis & San Francisco bonds and the plans for a reorganization of the company.

DR. B. CLARK HYDE PLAYS IN VALLEY TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Physician, Twice Tried in Murder Case, Defeated by Hoerr of St. Louis.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 15.—There doubtless are better players in the Missouri Valley Tennis Tournament, but none was regarded with greater interest from the grand stand than Dr. B. Clark Hyde, who was tried twice on the charge of killing Thomas H. Swope. He was convicted once, but the Supreme Court reversed the decision and the second jury disagreed.

The Missouri Valley tournament is in progress this week on the courts of the Kansas City Athletic Club. Dr. Hyde was paired in the preliminaries with Roland Hoerr of St. Louis. Hoerr defeated him in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, in justice to Dr. Hyde, it should be said that the probability was no worse than he expected. He is not in the championship class, and he knows it, yet he enjoys the game and likes to go against better players than himself and he is a "good loser."

He has entered all three tournaments played on the Athletic Club courts this year and in none has he lasted beyond his first match.

Mrs. Hyde, who made a strong witness in her husband's behalf at both his trials, usually drives the doctor to the courts in her electric brougham and is one of the most enthusiastic of the spectators.

Dr. Hyde has been a member of the Athletic Club since before the murder charges were brought against him. He is also a hand ball player.

Recently Hyde and his wife spent a Sunday on the farm of Elvin F. Wirth, foreman of the last jury that tried Hyde.

Heat Is a Menace to Lives of Old Folks

People advancing in years should be very careful of their health during the hot months, as heat has a very enervating and weakening effect on them. One has only to look at the daily list of fatalities to elderly people reported by the papers to realize that these are the hardest months for them to overcome.

The easily digested foods should be eaten, and then only sparingly, and alcoholic beverages and iced things should be avoided as much as possible. Exercise should be taken only in the shade. Most important of all in the maintenance of health and vigor at this time is to avoid constipation, with its accompanying headaches and muscular and blood congestion. This is accomplished by the timely use of a gentle laxative, like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

It is the ideal laxative for elderly people, as it is mild, tastes pleasant and does not gripe. Best of all, it contains valuable tonic properties that build up and strengthen the system.

Elderly people should avoid strong physics, cathartics, purgatives, salts and pills, as they are a shock to the system. In the opinion of reliable people like Mrs. C. J. Hill, Nichols, 2010 Emerson st., Berkeley, Cal., who esteems it a benefit to mankind, and Ida C. Milchsack, 210 N. Law st., Allentown, Pa., who declares that her stomach and bowels are now in perfect working order, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the right remedy to use. It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. The latter size is bought steadily by those who already know its value.

Families wishing to try a free strong physics, cathartics, purgatives, salts and pills, as they are a shock to the system. In the opinion of reliable people like Mrs. C. J. Hill,

BOY KILLED IN FALL FROM ELEVATOR; MAN INJURED

Operator's Arm Crushed When He Tried to Help Lad Who Swung to Lift.

Paul Lem, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Lem, a widow, 2200 Wash street, was fatally injured late Tuesday when he fell from a freight elevator. The lift rose from the basement and did not stop at the first floor. The younger boy reached for the elevator and swung onto it with his hands. He tried to pull himself to the platform, but fell to the bottom of the shaft.

The right arm of Vincenzo Gianno, operator of the elevator, was crushed when he tried to aid the boy.

BILL AGAINST GIVING OR TAKING TIPS AT MEALS

Councilman Arenades' Measure Provides $10 to $50 Fine, Half to Go to Informer.

A bill prohibiting the giving or taking of tips in any hotel, restaurant, buffet or cafe and providing a penalty of from $10 to $50 fine was introduced in the Council Tuesday afternoon by Councilman Arenades. Under the provisions of the bill the person giving the information upon which a conviction is obtained would receive one-half of the fine.

The person receiving the tip and the person giving it are made equally guilty in the proposed ordinance. Arenades explained that he believed an anti-tipping law would have the effect of compelling employers of waiters to increase wages, and that employees and the public alike would be benefited.

Auguste Chouteau, the sixth, a direct descendant of the Auguste Chouteau who assisted Pierre LaCade in founding St. Louis, became five days old Tuesday. His arrival at the Chouteau home, 403 Maryland place, July 11, was the cause of much rejoicing.

Oct. 16, 1912, Auguste Chouteau the fifth was married in New York City to Miss Virginia Wilson of Charleston, W. Va. The wedding was a surprise to relatives and friends, as no formal announcement of the engagement had been made. Chouteau met Miss Wilson at Sweet Springs Va., after he had made a trip around the world with his cousin, Philip C. Scanlan. His parents died when he was a child and he was reared by an aunt, Miss Eugenia Chouteau of 407 Maryland place. His fortune is estimated at $500,000.

Letter Explodes Suffragette Suspect.

LONDON, July 15.—A letter at the Dublin postoffice was stamping a letter addressed to John Dillon, Irish Nationalist member of Parliament for the East Division of Mayo, when the missive blew up and badly injured the employee and the police suspect a suffragette had sent the letter.

MAN DROWNED WHILE LAUNCHING MOTOR BOAT

Lost Balance 20 Feet From Shore and Swift Current Carries Him Away.

Theodore Koch, 34 years old, 1530 Malhock street, was drowned Tuesday night while aiding two companions to launch a new motor boat at Bremen avenue. Koch, clad in a bathing suit, leaped into the boat as the other men pushed the craft into the water. He lost his balance 20 feet from shore. The current was swift and Koch was carried beyond reach of the boat before he came to the surface. His companions made unsuccessful efforts to reach him. The body was not recovered. Koch was a contracting teamster and is survived by his widow and a 4-year-old daughter. Frank Kruse, 1002 Malhock street, and E. J. Lynch, 228 St. Louis avenue, who helped Koch build the six-passenger boat, were aiding in launching the craft.

BRYAN LECTURES, HE SAYS, TO PROVIDE AGAINST OLD AGE

Asserts Time He Spends on Platform Officially Usually Devote to Vacations.

WOULD WELCOME A REST

Wilson Asked to Find Out Salary Needed to Keep the Secretary at His Desk.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Secretary of State Bryan has issued the following statement as an answer to the criticism directed at his undertaking a lecturing tour while Secretary of State, and his statement that he is unable to live on $12,000 a year—his salary as a Cabinet officer:

"I am glad to have the criticism brought to my attention. I believe in criticism of public officials. Criticism is helpful. If a man makes a mistake, criticism enables him to correct it; if he is unjustly criticized, the criticism helps him. I have had my share of criticism since I have been in public life, but it has not prevented my doing what I thought proper to do.

"In devoting a part of my vacation to lecturing, I am doing what I believe to be proper and I have no fear whatever that any unbiased person will criticize me when he knows the facts.

"Many Speeches Without Pay.

"For 17 years, the sources of my income have been writing and lecturing, but each year, I have made more public speeches, without compensation and where I have paid my own traveling expenses, than I have where compensation was received.

"My earning capacity has been large and I have made not only an income sufficient for my immediate needs, but have saved on an average something more than $10,000 a year.

"In accepting the office which I now hold I gave up the opportunity to add to my accumulations, for I did not expect to increase during my term, the amount I have laid aside—that is, I am willing to forego whatever advantage I might derive from the acquiring of $40,000 more for the privilege of serving the country in this office during the coming four years.

"I will do more if necessary, but I do not believe that fair-minded people will ask it of me. Therefore, until I see some reason for changing my purpose, I expect to lecture enough to bring my income up to my expenses, these lectures to be delivered during the time that other officials give to their vacations.

"In addition to supplementing my salary, I hope that my lectures to good people who attend them would do so much for the country as to make up for the money's worth, but I would be glad to spend my vacations resting instead of lecturing if I could do so without eating in upon the amount I have laid away as a protection against old age."

Away at Important Time.
The criticism of Secretary Bryan in official Washington is not directed so much against his lecturing as it is against the amount of time it will take him away from Washington and because of his taking the time at a period when there is so much unfinished and his business before the State Department. For this he is severely condemned.

Bryan will leave the capital on Saturday night and will not return for six weeks. There is no criticism of his taking a day or so now and then in week ends. He already has taken one or two of these, and he plans another before going away.

He will leave tonight for Mountain Lake Park, Maryland, where, Thursday, he will deliver a lecture. He will return to Washington Friday morning and leave again Saturday night.

It is pointed out that the other Cabinet officers are not taking extended leaves of absence at this time and that the President is denying himself a long vacation. It is true, Secretary of the Navy Daniels is away, but he is on a tour of inspection of navy yards. Secretary of War Garrison will leave Washington this morning on a tour of inspection of army posts.

Secretary Bryan has before him now four important questions. It is true that in John Bassett Moore, the Counselor for the State Department, Bryan has an assistant who, by training, is perhaps better fitted to handle these four questions than any other man in the Government service, and Moore will be acting Secretary while Bryan is away.

Today the White House again refused to comment on Bryan's taking his vacation at this time for lecturing.

Bristow Asks for Facts.
The foundation for a possible discussion of the statement made by Bryan that he is unable to live comfortably on a salary of $12,000 a year, was laid in the Senate yesterday, when Senator Bristow of Kansas offered a resolution calling upon President Wilson for information and an opinion. This will come up automatically for action Friday.

The Democrats have sufficient votes to prevent the actual adoption of the resolution, but there is no way by which debate can be prevented. It is entitled to proceed daily for two hours until some disposition of it is reached.

The resolution avers that other Secretaries of State have lived on from $300 to $800, that there is need of the incumbent at his office, and that the country is likely to suffer by his absence. The President, therefore, is asked to ascertain what salary should be paid the secretary to keep him at his post daily.

The Sale of the Mahler Stocks

Is as We Predicted—A Selling Event the Like of Which the City Has Never Before Seen

It is frequently possible to "pick up" a small collection of one line of merchandise or another to sell at half price, but seldom is it the good fortune of any concern to secure an entire storeful of clean, fresh merchandise on such a favorable basis as to make possible its sale at half price.

This is what we succeeded in doing in our purchase of the Mahler Stock: We bought the entire Mahler stock of Costumes, of Coats and Suits, of Women's Blouses, At 50c on the Dollar We bought the entire Mahler stock of Gloves, Women's Neckwear, Knit Underwear and Undermuslins, At 50c on the Dollar We bought the entire Mahler stock of Hosiery, Corsets, Notions, Millinery, Ribbons, Robes, Etc., At 50c on the Dollar

And as We Bought So Are We Selling—At Just Half Price

And this is the reason for the immeasurable success of this great sale—for the women of St. Louis knew when we first announced the fact, that they actually would share in these great Mahler stocks as they came to us—at just half the usual prices. The sale will continue until every last article from the Mahler stock has been disposed of, and again we repeat that the schedule or half-pricing will be continued until the very last.

Five Lots of Semi-Made Robes at 1/2 Price

They Came in the Purchase of the Mahler Stock

There are still about 500 of these beautiful Semi-Made Robes remaining, including hand-machine Embroidered Robes; in white, tan, brown, lavender, black, also black and white, light blue, pink and ecru. The materials are voiles, batistes and soft mulls. Priced as follows: Mahler's $50 Semi-Made Robes, $25; Mahler's $30 Semi-Made Robes, $15; Mahler's $20 Semi-Made Robes, $10; Mahler's $15 Semi-Made Robes is priced at $7.50 (Main Floor.)

A Coincidence Which Illustrates Most Forcibly Our and Your Good Fortune in the Mahler Purchase Is This Collection of Girls' Dresses at Which Mahler Co. Received Only Two Days Previous to Our Purchasing Their Entire Stocks, and Were Not Even Unpacked.

This is undoubtedly the most remarkable collection of charming new Wash Frocks we have ever received to sell at any such price as $1. Nothing remarkable about the purchase from a quantity standpoint—there are only 50 dozens of them, but one must recollect that

They Are $2, $2.50 and $3 Dresses, and Are All to Sell at $1! Made of best quality solid colored and striped percales, and fine striped lawns, in the newest Fall styles. Complete size range from 6 to 14 years. Colors—Pink, Copenhagen blue, navy and also white.

Mothers who know, will buy them by twos, threes and half dozens—the opportunity of buying $2, $2.50 and $3 Wash Dresses for girls at $1 comes but seldom.

SARAH AND LILLIE ZATLIN AGAIN AID TENEMENT BABIES

Now in Third Season's Service, They Earn $21.26 to Save Little Ones of the Poor.

Save the Babies Now—Death Is Claiming Them

TODAY'S intense heat, the climax of long days and nights of sweltering hot weather that makes the crowded districts an inferno of suffering, renders imperative the fullest life-saving service to the babies of the tenements.

Secretary Mortland of the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission reports an ominous increase of sickness among these babies and the baby death rate rapidly is reaching sinister proportions. The if pure milk stations maintained by the commission are taxed to their utmost to meet the demands of tenement mothers for the pure milk which alone can save the lives of their babies.

The King's Daughters are making their daily distribution of free ice as full in volume as is possible to them, leaving nothing undone to meet the needs of the tenement babies and the sick poor.

The money necessary to pay the cost of the service already rendered by these two noble organizations, and to sustain that service, must be forthcoming. It is a life-and-death issue in the tenements. The situation calls for instant and generous response.

Help to save these imperiled lives.

Send in your contribution to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund without delay. The little ones of the poor are in the direst extremity of mortal peril.

ful service to the Pure Milk Fund to save the tenement babies.

This is their third season of such service, and they now break all their earlier record by conducting a lemonade stand for four days—three days in front of their own home and one day at Page boulevard and Union avenue—and earning a total of $21.26 with which to help the little ones of the poor.

They report that the great majority of persons passing by their lemonade stand were glad to assist in swelling the cash receipts of their unselfish enterprise, and that one particularly kind-hearted man gave them $1 for a glass of lemonade.

Also, with thanks, they acknowledge the receipt of donations to their stock-in-trade from the Blake-Wenneker Candy Co., the National Soda Co., the Elks Benevolent Association, the Hygrade Soda Co., the Phosphorene Co., the James M. Dupuch Bottling Co., and the Union Soda Co., and because of this, these generous concerns are now duly enrolled as members of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund League.

So, too, you may be very sure, are Sarah and Lillie Zatlín now on the league roll of honor, and league membership cards have been mailed to them.

An original play was presented by a clever company of little girls at the residence of W. R. Compton, 13 Kingsbury place, and $2.50 was earned to help save the babies.

Those taking part were Frances Compton, Josephine Garrett, Josephine Moffett, Olive Moffett, Natalie Moffett, Janice Feldman and Marjorie Livingston. All these names are now enrolled on the league membership list and their owners are also owners of league membership cards.

The children of St. Louis are doing splendid work in behalf of the tenement tots. In all sections of the town they're busy with entertainments, carnivals, lemonade stands and other helpful ventures, striving to earn as much for the good cause as is possible to them.

They know the league slogan and live up to it.

The league slogan is their slogan: "Save the babies!"

WALTER JOHNSON READY TO PITCH EVERY OTHER DAY

Fireball King Will Try to Duplicate Feats of Old-Timers if Nationals Climbs.

JACK JOHNSTON IS HURT

Browns' Left Fielder Is "Beamed" In Practice and Must Take Several Days' Layoff.

PROBABLE PITCHERS

AMERICAN LEAGUE.
Washington at St. Louis, Doolittle vs. Levens.
New York at Cleveland (two games), McDowell and Washburn vs. Mitchell and Blanton.
Philadelphia at Chicago (two games), Bender and Brown vs. Coffe and Scott.
Boston at Detroit, Redburn vs. Kahn.
NATIONAL LEAGUE.
Cardinals at Philadelphia, Ferrell vs. Shaver or Moore.
Cincinnati at New York, Sages or Benton vs. Turrentine or Demaree.
Pittsburgh at Boston, Cooper vs. Tyler.
Chicago at Brooklyn, Smith or Humphries vs. Rucker.

By Clarence F. Lloyd

Kingmaster Clark Griffith and his big string, including the one and only Walter Johnson, the celebrated slowness, "Germany" Schaefer and Nicholas Altchek, Joe Bushling, the only undefeated pitcher in the land today, save Ed Koney; Clyde Milne, clearest of base thieves, and a score of other head-liners, are here. They dropped in on the Browns-Yankees matinee, Tuesday, and will carry home beginning Wednesday. King Johnson skipped his usual trip to Coffeyville, Kan., a jaunt he almost always makes when the Nationals perform in St. Louis. He's booked to pitch Thursday's or Friday's game, according to Manager Griffith.

The Nationals are in third place in the American League standing. The players still believe they have a chance to head off the Athletics, who own a 3-game advantage over the Griffins. And should the Nationals get within halting distance of the Athletics, watch Walter Johnson go in about every other day in an effort to put the Wilsonville team in front. He's willing.

St. Walter is willing. Johnson, according to his own statement, would not be averse to pitching every other day, and it is believed that if Griffith ever brings the Nationals to within reach of the Elephants this season, about Sept. 15, Johnson will be asked to throw a couple of weeks at a stretch with but one day's rest.

If the old-timers were able to pitch every other day, Johnson says he knows no reason why he shouldn't be able to do the same. He is willing to try it at any rate, if Griffith says the word. The Nationals arrived in St. Louis a day ahead of time because Tuesday's scheduled game with the Naps was played two Sundays ago, when the teams made a hurry-up jump from Washington to Cleveland for the contest. Griffith and Manager Chance of the Yanks held a conference Tuesday, after which it was announced that Southpaw George Clark of the Yanks had been sold to the Nationals.

Johnson Must Take a Rest. After Jack Johnson, the Browns' left fielder, had been unconscious for twenty minutes as the result of being "beamed" in hitting practice, he awoke and shouted, "This not hurt, but O, my head!"

Johnson was hit when Pitcher E. Mitchell, late of the defunct Blue Grass League, who had asked Manager Stovall for a trial, cracked the Texas on the back of the head with the fast ball. Johnson dropped like a log and was carried to the clubhouse. For awhile it was feared he was badly hurt, but after a doctor had been called in he was revived, and aside from a little dizziness was all right. He was taken home in Manager Stovall's automobile.

The doctor advised that Johnson be permitted to rest for several days, as activity in the hot sun might result seriously to the young fire-eater. In the meantime, Steve Compton, another Texas, will serve as the "Browns' left fielder."

WRAV'S COLUMN

Wanted: A School for Managers.

IT'S quite possible that some men go through life without ever realizing they have necks. But not the baseball manager—that's where he gets "his," generally early in his career. Fortunately, a man can be wounded in his career without losing anything more serious than a little sleep.

In the last three years the average life of managers of major league baseball clubs has been about four months. Bosses come up and are cut down like flowers, all because the qualifications of a manager are still mysteries to the stockholder who is looking for a pennant—not to mention a large and early dividend.

When the club owner awakes to the necessity of choosing a handler of his players, he usually limits his choice to the following field:

A broken down major league player.

A star player of his own team.

An umpire.

A minor league club manager.

Laymen Have Made Good Bosses. As a matter of fact, the great managers of baseball have come from all sorts and conditions of life. Possibly the expected leader may be found in the lines mentioned above. Occasionally he is discovered in men who never had any playing experience with teams.

MAN First, Baseball Afterward. IN contradiction to the prevailing belief that baseball knowledge supersedes ALL other requirements in a manager's make-up, it may be ventured that the MAN is about six-tenths the value wanted; about four-tenths will do for his baseball equipment.

Run your finger down the list of players who have failed, brilliant players of good habits and unusual intelligence, who have come to grief as developers of teams. They are numerous.

More Teachers Needed. THE natural gift of leadership, the ability to control men and keep them in good temper, AND THE KNACK OF IMPARTING KNOWLEDGE are the prime requisites of a managerial success in baseball.

Managers have flashed here and there on the strength of inheriting strong playing outfits. Witness the case of Frank Chance, who stepped into a great club gathered in the main by Frank Seale. But the managers who survive are the TEACHERS, men like Mack and McGraw, who DEVELOP players as well as BUY them.

Managers Can't BUY Winners. THE fate of the manager today who expects to keep in the race by the purchase of ready-made big League

Eleven Singles to Face Starter in Junior Race

PEORIA, Ill., July 15.—The Junior events of the Central States Rowing Association regatta are on the program of the first day's sport of the four-day rowing meet here this afternoon. The entries include those of clubs from St. Louis, Peoria, Grand Rapids, Chicago and Quincy, Ill.

The course, selected because of its smoothness, was in ideal condition for the contests and some keen competition is expected. For several days the starting and finishing points have been marked off with buoys, while no better arrangements could have been made for the housing of the shells of the different clubs.

One of the feature contests of the day promises to be the junior single scull race. In this are entered 11 scullers, one of the largest fields ever to face a starter in this portion of the country. About half of these are from St. Louis rowing clubs.

STAHL AMBITIOUS, M'ALEER CANS HIM; CARRIGAN IS BOSS

World's Champions' Manager Dropped Following Plan to Depose President.

CHICAGO, July 15.—William Carrigan, 32 years of age, for seven years catcher for the Boston American baseball club, today will assume his new duties as manager of the Red Sox, succeeding Jake Stahl, who in 1912 stepped into the breach, after a lay-off from the national game, and in one season as leader gave Boston a world pennant.

The announcement was made last night that Stahl would be dropped, but that his salary would be continued during the present season.

"Stahl was unable to play because of an injured foot and was drawing a big salary," said President McAleer. "It handicapped the team and I deemed a change necessary. If he were able to play this year the club would be going all right. But he isn't and we can't use him. His salary will continue during the rest of the season, but his duties ceased Tuesday."

Stahl claimed to be shocked at the news. He seemed to think he was being made the scapegoat for the team's poor showing. Stahl's release was unconditional, but he will not attempt to return to the game. He expects to go back to the banking business, which he left at the urgent solicitation of McAleer, to accept the appointment as Red Sox leader.

Stahl Sought Presidency. The real reason for dispensing with Stahl's services is said by inside persons to be his desire to depose and possibly supersede McAleer as president of the Red Sox. Stahl, it is said, complained that McAleer was not doing enough for the club, and that he was doing nothing but buying players, all the other activities being taken care of by various officers. It is stated that Stahl, who is a stockholder in the club, complained that McAleer was being paid too much money. The story came to McAleer, who started a counter campaign for Stahl's head and got it.

McAleer has also maintained that Stahl could play, if he cared to get into condition. Stahl, however, has refused to play. Stahl says his club's poor showing this year is due to a series of injuries to his men. Carrigan, who succeeds Stahl, is a reliable catcher and strategist of national reputation. He came to the Sox from Holy Cross College in 1908. Part of the 1907 season he was with Toronto. Except for this lapse, he has been with the Red Sox continuously.

WORLD BASEBALL TOUR WILL BEGIN NOVEMBER 19

CHICAGO, July 15.—The round-the-world tour of the Chicago Americans and the New York Nationals became a certainty yesterday, when Charles Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, posted a forfeit necessary to assure transportation. The teams will sail from Vancouver, B. C., on Nov. 19, making the trip to the Pacific Coast in a special train. Several exhibitions will be played en route.

So far six Giants and six of the White Sox have announced their intention to make the tour. McGraw, manager of the Giants, has posted a guarantee for 25 persons and Comiskey for twice that number.

NATIONAL TENNIS HEAD WILL SEE BIG MATCHES

NEW YORK, July 15.—Robert D. Wrenn, president of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, plans to sail for London today to be present at the challenge match for the Davis Cup. The desirability of his presence was decided upon late yesterday, when he and other officials of the tennis organization met for consultation. The conference regarded it as practically certain that the American players, McLaughlin, Williams, and Johnson, would be the challengers to meet the British cup holders, and if such proved the case it was thought that Wrenn should be on the scene at Wimbledon as the official representative of the American competition.

Local Federal Leaguers Still Undecided About New Park for Its Team

No action was taken at the meeting of the St. Louis Federal League club stockholders Tuesday regarding the future home of the St. Louis team. The stockholders are eager to move from St. Louis University Park, the present location. Another meeting will be held about Friday, when some action may result.

In the meantime the officials of the club are investigating several sites that have been offered. The 1914 home of the local Federals may be announced after the next meeting of the stockholders.

Otto Stiffler, principal stockholder in the local club, said at Tuesday's meeting that he had no intention of withdrawing from the league.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

Ed Walsh got back in the game after an absence of several weeks and defeated the Red Sox in a 10-inning game, 2-1. Walsh allowed 10 hits and got the single that scored the winning run.

Eddie Plank, the veteran left-hander, pitched the Mackmen to a 7-0 victory over the Tigers. Hall and Samloch were found for 10 hits.

After Dick Rudolph had held the Pirates to two runs for 10 innings, he blew up in the eleventh and lost a 6-4 game. McQuillan and Hendrix hurtled for the Pirates.

Christy Mathewson hurled only 70 balls to defeat the Reds in the eighth successive game the Giants have won from the Cincinnati team. The score was 4 to 2. Miner Brown and Big Six were hit hard.

Fred Cobb has been indefinitely suspended by President Johnson of the American League for his run-in with Umpire Hildebrand.

Hamilton Pitches a One-Hit Game for His Fifth Straight Victory

EARL HAMILTON, the clever young southpaw of the Browns, is pitching as good baseball as any twirler in either big League. He came within a hair-breadth of hurling a no-hit game Tuesday when a single by Roger Peckinpaugh, the Yankees' young shortstop, spoiled the contest.

Not since the sixth inning of a game June 28 against Detroit has the enemy scored an earned run off Hamilton. In the last 41 innings the enemy has tallied three markers off the leading citizen of Cwegro, Kan., but not a single one was deserved. In the 11-inning game against the Naps it was an error by Johnny Lavan that gave the Cleveland team its only run and forced the contest into extra innings.

Against the Red Sox, the world's champions tallied their lone run on a double steal, through no fault of Hamilton. It was a wide throw by Agnew that gave the Tigers their lone run off Hamilton. He has won his last five games.

The last game that Hamilton lost was a 12-inning affair to Red Russell, when the White Sox trimmed him, 4-3. In the last five games he has allowed four runs and 25 hits. That's an average of less than one run a game. Hamilton has won 11 games and lost 8, an average of .579. Against the team percentage of .464, this is a mighty good record.

Only three Yankees reached first base Tuesday. Hamilton hit Walter in the first inning, passed Danieles in the fourth and was hit by Peckinpaugh in the fifth. Only two of these men were stranded. Walter being forced in the first by Cree, who later was cut down on an attempt to steal.

Hamilton was opposed by Ray Keating, Frank Chance's star juvenile. He pitched a fair game himself, though not nearly as good as Hamilton's exhibition. Only five hits were made off Keating. Two each in the first two rounds. Coupled with a pair of wild pitches, they netted a pair of runs.

From the second to the eighth the Browns didn't get a hit. In the eighth, however, Pratt hit a beauty bright tripe past Cree and scored a moment later on Williams' sacrifice fly to Cree.

The Browns put up an errorless game. A one-handed catch of a "howler" from Smith's bat by Pratt in the third was the feature. Derrill leaped several feet in the air, but came down with the ball.

Pratt got one triple and scored two. Cree deprived him of the second blow in the very first inning, when he mused back and then jumped in the air for Derrill's knock.

Hauser's Future as a Big Leaguer Depends on Operation on Knee

BALTIMORE, Md., July 15. ROLAND HAUSER, the clever young shortstop of the Cardinals, is at Johns Hopkins Hospital today, undergoing an operation on his knee. His future as a player depends on the outcome of the operation.

Several ligaments about the knee are torn while there is considerable swelling about the joint. Physicians are hopeful that they can remedy the ailment but should the operation prove unsuccessful it is feared that Hauser's career as a big League player is ended. In the few games he has played this season, he has failed to show his old time form.

JURY ACQUITS MAN, BUT IS CERTAIN OF HIS GUILT

Foreman Tells Kansas Cityan, Accused of Murder, to Go Make a Man of Himself.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 16.—A jury in the Criminal Court here today acquitted William F. McNeil, charged with second degree murder, although all the 12 men, according to the foreman, were "satisfied of the prisoner's guilt." McNeil was charged with shooting Lee Self to death in a quarrel at a "can party."

When the jury came in and announced to Judge Latawiec that a verdict had been reached, Foreman Arthur Brown asked permission to speak to the prisoner.

"McNeil," Brown said, "we are all satisfied you are guilty, but we are going to give you another chance. We want you to go home and make a man of yourself. Your mother is getting old and needs you. You are to cut out can parties. Don't you think you can make a man of yourself?"

"Yes, sir," McNeil said weakly. The verdict of acquittal then was handed to the Court. McNeil's gray-haired mother wept aloud.

Man With $400 Is Missing. Mrs. Mamie Stiller, 1330 Morgan street, Tuesday night asked the police to search for her husband, David, 52 years old. She says he disappeared at 10 a. m. Monday and she fears harm has come to him. She said her husband left home with $400 to buy goods.

Superfluous Hair Truths

Stop Experimenting

There are but few depilatories sold. You think there are hundreds because you have used the same identical preparations under several different names. This is easily explained. Women stop using.

So-Called Hair Removers

When they learn that they are harmful. Therefore, they cannot be sold under the same name for any length of time. Then the identical, worthless, harmful concoctions are given new names and advertised again as totally different preparations.

Defraud the Same Foolish Women who innocently buy them over and over again under different names, and this will continue as long as the authorities are given new names and advertised again as totally different preparations.

DeMiracle

Has Stood the Test of Time

DeMiracle has been sold as DeMiracle for over eleven years, and its name has never been changed. It is acknowledged the world over by eminent authorities as the one safe, perfected hair remover, therefore it is the only depilatory you can use without experimenting.

Leaves No Tell-Tale Smell

If you use DeMiracle it will be impossible for any curious person to know that you have used a hair remover, because DeMiracle evaporates immediately after accomplishing its work, therefore leaves no odor whatever. On the other hand, if you use any depilatory with a distinctive odor, an offensive, tell-tale smell will cling to your skin for hours.

Avoid Permanent Disfigurement by refusing substitutes. If your dealer will not supply you send $1.00 direct. Free information in next adv. which depilatories are harmful and worthless sent in plain sealed envelope.

SUBWAY-ELEVATED PROPOSITION MADE TO CITY ASSEMBLY

J. D. Houseman Backs Ordinance Providing New Franchise for West End Line.

CITY OFFICIALS DIRECTORS

Will Make Estimated Investment of $17,000,000—50-Year Franchise Asked.

At the request of James D. Houseman, electric railroad promoter, Delegate Hoffman of the Twenty-third Ward, introduced in the House of Delegates Tuesday night a bill authorizing the "St. Louis Transit Co." to construct a combined subway and elevated structure, to start at Second and Mullany streets and terminate at Clayton avenue and the city limits.

Houseman estimates the cost of the project at $17,000,000. He asks a 50-year franchise, which the city is empowered to "revise or amend," but not repeal. In return for the franchise the city is offered a percentage of the company's net earnings "after the company has paid all operating expenses, fixed charges and set aside a proportion of the earnings as a reserve fund for the redemption of its bonds."

Company Exempt From Taxes. It is proposed also that the city shall exempt the St. Louis Rapid Transit Co., from the payment of city taxes until such time as the company shall have been established on a profitable basis and is returning to stockholders at least 6 per cent on their investments.

The route of the subway, as outlined in the measure, is as follows: Beginning at a point on Mullany street, 100 feet east of Second, and continuing south to a point at the intersection of Florida and Second streets, thence south under second and under Washington avenue and through private property to Third street, where connection would be made with the tracks of the Terminal Railroad Association; thence west under Washington avenue to Seventeenth street, north to St. Charles, west to Eighteenth, south to Chestnut, west to Garrison, thence through private property to Cardinal and Laclede avenues, south to Clark avenue and west to Compton.

Route of Elevated. The elevated structure is planned to make connections with the subway at this point and proceed in the following direction: West on Clark to Spring avenue, thence through private property to Vandeventer and Duncan avenues, west on Duncan to Taylor, south on Taylor, crossing Wabash Railroad overhead to Wichita street, west to King's highway, across King's highway to Berthold avenue to intersection of Grand View place and Clayton avenue, west on Clayton avenue to city limits.

An interesting feature of the subway measure is that providing for control of the company's affairs by a board of directors of nine, of whom three shall be elected from the ranks of city officials. These officials are not designated in the bill. It will be the duty of officials, the bill says, to exercise a general supervision over the company's affairs so far as the interests of the city are affected. All books, accounts and documents of the company are to be open to municipal inspection at all times.

Not Money-Maker at Start. The bill appears to indicate that the subway company does not intend to make much money the first few years. The first five years of the franchise the city is to receive only 5 per cent each year of the company's net earnings. All similar contracts or franchises of the company provide for a percentage of gross earnings. The percentage fixed in the bill is to be increased 5 per cent at the end of each five years so that in the final five years of the company's franchise 50 per cent of net earnings will be paid into the city treasury.

The company's request for tax exemption is regarded by delegates as an impossible provision. Several measures, similar to the Houseman bill, have been presented to the Assembly within the last few years.

Houseman was the pioneer builder of street railroads in St. Louis County, notably the St. Louis, St. Charles & Western, all of which are owned by the United Railways Co. In his St. Louis County enterprises, Houseman lost heavily and finally was forced to sell his holdings. He says he does not wish to reveal at this time the names of his backers in the proposed subway-elevated project.

MOTHER BEATS A DOG FROM CHILD WITH A CRADLE

Holds Baby With One Hand While She Wields Crib With Other Until Help Comes.

Mrs. Alice Dyke of 611 Morgan street used a baby's crib, Tuesday, to beat off a dog which had threatened her baby. She left the child in the rear yard and a short time later saw a dog she owned acting queerly and running about the cradle.

Mrs. Dyke ran into the yard. Picking up the child from the cradle she held it in her arms while she wielded the crib to beat the dog back. Neighbors heard her cries and ran to her assistance. A patrolman was called and shot the dog. The child was not hurt.

Rose Crono, 28 years old, of 2724 Olive street, was one of six persons bitten by dogs, Tuesday, bringing the police list for the week up to 23 and making 81 persons bitten in 10 days. Crono was passing through the yard in the rear of the grocery of Ignatius Johnson, 2011 Market street, when two dogs belonging to Johnson attacked him. He was bitten on the right ankle and on the right leg. Dr. Drake at the central dispensary declared the wounds serious and advised treatment by the city bacteriologist.

Harry Kuhn, 12, 1721 O'Fallon street, when walking past 1704 O'Fallon street, was bitten on the right hand by a dog belonging to Mrs. Anna Weiss of that address.

Frank James, 13, 1400 Blair avenue, was bitten on the calf of both legs and on the hands by a dog owned by Mrs. Susan Nacelli, 1228 North Fourteenth street.

Robert Ballester, 10 years old, of 4521 Fair avenue, attempted to pet a stray dog in front of his home and was bitten on the left wrist.

George Wright, a solicitor, 1528 Sallbury street, was bitten on the right hand by a dog owned by Carl Bohnert, 4720 Louisiana avenue.

John F. Green, 11 years old, 220 South Vandeventer avenue, was bitten on the left ear by a St. Bernard dog belonging to Joseph Clever, 3513 Market street.

At the request of Dr. Downey L. Harris, Patrolman Cramer, Carondelet District, shot and killed a dog which bit Melba Overstreet of 4437 Nebraska avenue. The dog was a stray and after biting the child several days ago was cornered and driven into the cellar of the Overstreet home. There it was killed.

Freight Disturbs Dreams of 19-Year-Old Miss.

CHICAGO, July 16.—Miss Clara Maraske was sleeping the untroubled sleep of her 19 years early today when something entered the room.

It was a railroad train. The Maraske home stares straight at a railroad embankment and directly in the path of a freight train which left the rails, several cars tumbling down from the tracks. One of them caved in the front of the house and stopped only a few feet from Miss Maraske's bed. She escaped with a few bruises and cuts caused by breaking windows and falling plaster.

The Incoming Throngs of Eager Shoppers & Outgoing Deliveries Are Forces Which Are Effecting a Satisfactory Distribution of This Million & a Half Dollar Stock of Dependable Merchandise

"Busy as a bee hive" was the expression of a prominent Eastern retailer who visited this store yesterday. "Such selling activity at this season of the year, I have never seen" he continued.

This Removal Sale has made a great stir & caused tidal waves of interest on the usual Summer sea of merchandising inertia. It is a dynamic economic force, the great helpfulness of which thousands & thousands have felt in the past few weeks & which is daily spreading to every section of the city & environs.

But unprecedented buying activity is necessary, for late in August this entire MILLION & A HALF DOLLAR STOCK is to be disposed of if it is possible to do so through the medium of drastic price reductions. The public is co-operating with us in this vast enterprise in a most substantial way, helping us by reducing the stock & helping themselves in the valuable savings they are making.

This Removal Sale is really a merchandising mutuality—reciprocal to this store & to every individual who has a part in the sale. It is unrivaled in its value-giving potency, & stands pre-eminent as the most portentous retailing occasion in the history of St. Louis & the West.

ECZEMA COVERED ENTIRE SCALP

Spread to Body, Limbs, Back and Ears. If Scratched Would Bleed and Smart. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Completely Cured.

R. F. D. No. 2, Sunfield, Mich. — "I was troubled with eczema. It began with a sore on the top of the scalp, broke out as a pimple and grew larger until it was a large red spot with a crust or scab over it. This became larger finally covering the entire scalp and spread to different parts of the body, the limbs and back and in the ears. These sores grew larger gradually until some were as large as a quarter of a dollar.

They would itch and if scratched they would bleed and smart. The clothing would irritate them at night when it was being removed causing them to itch and smart so I could not sleep. A watery fluid would run from them. My scalp became covered with a scale and when the hair was raised up it would raise this scale; the hair was coming out terribly. My scalp and body itched all the time.

"After using Cuticura Soap and Ointment with two applications we could notice a great difference. My way of using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment was to apply the Ointment to the sores and all over the scalp, then after I would wash the sores and scalp with the Soap. In a month's time I was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Bertha Thompson, Jan. 2, 1913.

Cuticura Soap 25c, and Cuticura Ointment 50c, are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 22-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." If you have severe eczema and shampoo with Cuticura Soap and Ointment you will find it best for skin and scalp.

COTTAGE FOR SUMMER

Deserted Young Woman Who Makes Villagers Stare, Expects to Get Back Into Chorus.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
 NEW YORK, July 15.—Tradition has it that a regular circus went down to Keamsburg, N. J., on the Jersey coast several years ago and lost a lot of money. That made the manager mad and, standing in the middle of the ring on the last night, he exclaimed:
 "We're going to leave you helpless. You'll want us back here again, because you'll need something lively and attractive down here. But before you get us back here you've got to send for us."
 The people of Keamsburg have fooled that man. They are not going to send for any lively and attractive persons. They have 'em. You just can't beat two girls sitting on the front porch of a nice big house in exclusive Granville Park, Keamsburg, in men's summer underwear, and going into the uncomplaining Atlantic Ocean in boys' bathing suits. You just can't, particularly when one of the girls is Mrs. Raymond Belmont—who was just a prosperous chorus girl before she was married to Raymond Belmont, son of August of the subway—the other Mrs. Allen Sangree, wife of a magazine writer.

Friendship for Notables.
 Without going so far as to put one of the features of the story into the opening paragraphs, the young women are intimate friends of Mrs. "Tom" Pierce of Boston and, among others, who are wont to share their joys and sorrows with Mrs. Ethel Pope Hill Alsop, who was joined in holy matrimony to Edward B. Alsop, then 75 years old, a year ago last fall.

Most of the residents of Granville Park, which is known by the numerous real estate signs to be restricted and exclusive, do not yet know how the place is looking up. One month ago Mrs. Emma Thomas of New York concluded that she'd be unable to use her beautiful home on the shore road in Granville Park this summer. Mrs. Belmont, who was suffering from melancholy because her husband had failed to return after an eight days' honeymoon, opined that she'd like to do some summering in a good summer place. Mrs. Sangree is her chum, and Mrs. Sangree's mother knows Mrs. Thomas. A word or two and Mrs. Belmont and four Pekinese spaniels moved to the pretentious yellow house overlooking the ocean.

There was no telephone in the house and Mrs. Belmont was simply tickled for she didn't want a bunch of lawyers calling up to say that Raymond wasn't coming back and that August Belmont wasn't going to settle a lot of subway tickets on her. That would have made her awfully angry and would have spoiled her vacation.

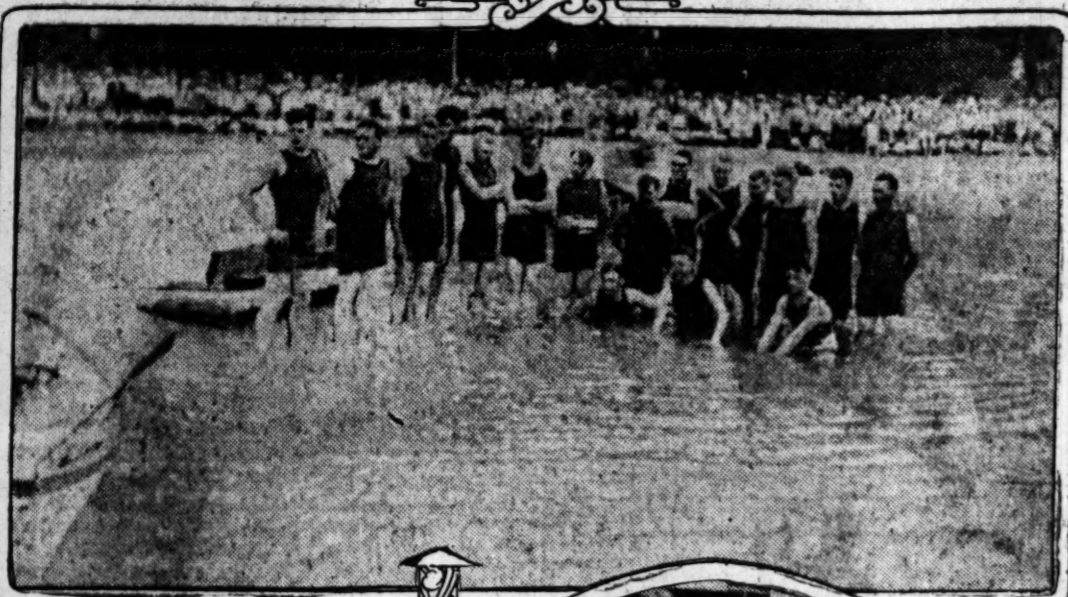

Summer Underwear for Pouch.
 Mrs. Belmont and Mrs. Sangree are really energetic-athletic, you might say—in their change of garb each day. On most of the days their schedule consists of changing from pajamas to short, summer underwear, for porch and vicinity apparel, from that to pajamas again and from pajamas to unskirted bathing suits of one piece. The sand is so deep in Granville Park that the material covering the lower limbs is worn high, and the material covering the neck and arms low. That strikes a balance.

Yesterday, when a reporter had to cover the disagreeable assignment of going down to Granville Park, Mrs. Belmont wore a bathrobe of thin blue cloth. Mrs. Sangree spent part of the morning on the porch in a pajama jacket and what is ordinarily left of a two-piece under trifle, but later appeared in pajamas.

Necessarily the people of the section, who go up to New York whenever there's a flood, can't figure the thing out precisely. Some of them, like the Irish patriot who lives next to the light house, are mighty busy at it, but you can't do much with field glasses aimed from an upper window for only four hours a day. And, when you consider that the two pairs of pearls covered opera glasses that the village store has been carrying since "Shore Acres" played there have been sold, the majority of the timid folk are in a sorry plight.

In One-Piece Bathing Suit.
 Mrs. Belmont was heading for the beach when the reporter burst upon her. Her black hair was hanging down her back and she looked demure in a blue and white bathing suit of one piece that was a great foe to heat prostration. The reporter announced himself.
 "What's the dope?" asked Mrs. Belmont coyly.
 The young woman was told of numerous things. Cabell dispatches had reported her arrival in Paris this month. Local newspaper stories had told of heaps of money that August Belmont was going to give her if she'd stay off the ranch.
 "My case comes up in October, and when it does I'll slip you the first dope on it," she said. "I want to get some decent alimony. I have brought suit for a separation. I realize that Raymond is never coming back."

 "And you love him still?" asked the reporter.
 "Yes, and no doubt about that," she replied.
 "After Raymond was taken away from me I was offered alimony. You'd be surprised at the figure—it wouldn't be enough to keep a shop girl. Even if I have to take it I'll be forced to go back on the stage—as Mrs. Raymond Belmont—and I hope to get the same salary I received when I met Raymond, four years ago. I was getting $35 a week. I was a chorus girl—a prosperous chorus girl. I say I was a prosperous chorus girl, for I look like one when I'm all dressed.
 "Raymond has his salary from his office, his pin money from his father and the money his father gave him when the Belmont boys opposed August Belmont's marriage to Eleanor Robson, the actress. You know they're still kicking about that. And Raymond said his dog. I can't be fooled on this thing, because Raymond could afford to lose $3000 a night playing red-and-black."

"I got a rotten deal from the Belmonts. None of that sort of people ever treat a chorus girl right. Every time a millionaire marries a chorus girl he deserts her. It always happens."
 "Would you give young Belmont a divorce?"
 "No, sir," she replied with determination. "They can't get rid of me that easily. They haven't treated me right." The Keamsburg tradespeople like her. The vegetable man regards her as a good business woman. In her concentration in matters of business affairs she often is so intense she goes out to the wagon in her pajamas.

FAIRGROUND POOL OPENED TO PUBLIC AT 9 A. M. TODAY

The Fairground swimming pool, constructed at a cost of about $200,000, was opened to the public at 9 a. m. Wednesday, the pool having been formally turned over to the city by the contractors Tuesday afternoon.

Addresses by city officials, the unfurling of a flag and aquatic sports were features of the ceremonies of dedication. A flag was presented to the park by the North St. Louis Business Men's Association and was unfurled at the Grand and Natural Bridge avenues entrance by Miss Genevieve Wedemeyer, 8-year-old daughter of William Wedemeyer, president of the association.

The ceremonies began with an address by John H. Sommerich secretary of the association, and an address by Wedemeyer. Mrs. William Samuel presented the flag and Boy Scouts participated in the exercises.

Exhibition in Life-Saving.
 Mayor Kiel and Park Commissioner Davis, in accepting the keys to the dressing room, made short addresses, after which the Boy Scouts led a procession to the pool, where life guards gave an exhibition life-saving drill. Fancy swimming was performed

S'MATTER POP?

(Might there not be a third guess?—say, a suffragette, or a mamma's darling Algernon?)

Drawn for the Post-Dispatch By C. M. PAYNE.

The Jarr Family

By ROY L. M'CARDELL

Mrs. Jarr anticipates a mobbing by marriage-able girls.

"WASN'T that Gladys Terwilliger?" asked Mr. Jarr. "It was dark on the stairs, but I said 'Good evening' when she spoke to me."

"Oh, yes, that was Gladys," replied Mrs. Jarr. "And Madge Dingelbender called me on the telephone. And, if they hear of it, I shouldn't wonder if I get a letter from Viola Cackelberry and her sister Irene hinting for a visit."

"Hear what? What's in the air that all these young ladies should evince such interest in us?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"Oh, because I was successful with Clara Mudridge when I introduced her to old man Smith," said Mrs. Jarr, wearily. "Well, much thanks I got! And I'll never put myself out again."

"I don't see how you were successful," ventured Mr. Jarr. "It was Clara Mudridge who married him, and then took a hyphen with her husband."

"And she's never known a happy day, she says," Mrs. Jarr went on; "but that doesn't keep those other girls from regarding me as lucky."

"Lucky, how?" Mr. Jarr inquired.

"Lucky in getting them husbands, of course," explained Mrs. Jarr. "Girls are so hard to please these days and want so much that eligible young men are getting scarcer and scarcer. Yet, although one can't expect any social position in marrying into such a profession, although I cannot see why it doesn't give the same standing that marrying a physician does, because the work together, don't they?—and yet do you ever notice they never pretend to know each other at funerals?"

"What are you talking about?" asked Mr. Jarr in an exasperated tone.

"Gracious!" cried Mrs. Jarr. "Don't bite my head off, please. I was just telling you that first they want social position with money, and then when they get over 34 they'll take the money, and when they reach 38 they will be content with a good provider and give up these dreams of Riverside Drive apartments, town cars and trips to Europe."

"So, as I was saying, although there is no special social position, still, they do make a good living. For while one can do without luxuries, we all must die."

Mr. Jarr groaned and clutched his hair. He would have torn some out in his exasperation, but his hands were not grasping so much of it these days, and he resolved to let nature take its course in the head-denuding process. So, restraining his annoyance, he asked Mrs. Jarr, with forced calmness, please to cease her ravings or else explain.

"What, goodness me! Can't you see that it is known that I know him? Or why would Gladys Terwilliger be calling to see me, and why should Madge Dingelbender keep me half an hour on the telephone asking me if I were angry at her and why I never came to see her any more? And, just as I say, if Viola Cackelberry and Irene Cackelberry hear I know him, they'll flop right over from Peoria. For, as you know, his uncle is very wealthy."

"Whose uncle? Who is it you are guarding of now? What's the mysterious person the susceptible Miss Terwilliger calls on you about, and the gushing Miss Dingelbender phones you?"

"Why, Mr. Berry's cousin, who will be in charge of the branch undertaking establishment Mr. Berry has opened in the neighborhood," said Mrs. Jarr. "If you only would have listened and not interrupted you would have understood."

"Ah, we are to have a marriageable young undertaker in our midst!" asked Mr. Jarr.

"Why, certainly, I happened to drop just a word to Gladys Terwilliger's mother, and Madge Dingelbender's married sister happened to be present. It was in Muller's grocery this morning."

Vital Question.

THE case had reached a critical stage. Even the Judge seemed to awaken to a lively interest in the proceedings, for the most important witness was about to be cross-examined.

"So you are the lady's maid?" began the relentless barrister.

"Yes, sir."

"And where were you at 7 o'clock on the evening in question?"

"I was in my lady's room, sir."

"For what purpose?"

"I was dressing my lady's hair, sir."

The barrister leaned forward and spoke slowly and impressively.

"Now, think," he said. "I want you to be very careful in answering this question: Was or was not your mistress in the room at the time?"

Argonaut.

The Five Senses.

A TEACHER was trying to have his pupils form some conception of the five senses, but one little chap failed to grasp any idea of the lecture, says the Youngstown Telegram.

"You know I am here, don't you, Johnnie?"

Johnnie nodded assent.

"Well, how do you know?"

"I can see you."

"Exactly; there you have the first of the senses, 'seeing.' Now, if you should close your eyes would you still know I am here?"

"Yes, sir."

"And how would you know?"

With his face beaming with intelligence Johnnie quickly responded:

"I know, teacher; I can smell, too."

One or the Other.

A CLEVELAND school teacher—one who has at several periods in the sweet scented past favored us with anecdotes about her pupils—sends us an account of a quiz conducted in her geography class only a day or two ago, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"In what zone do we live?" asked this teacher.

"The Temperate Zone!" chanted the well drilled class.

"Right. And what do we mean by 'temperate'?" Willie, you may answer."

"Temperate is where it's freazin' cold half the time an' roastin' hot the other half the time."

A Housekeeping Puzzle.

"DON'T think this ham is perfectly cured, my dear," said Mr. Newlywed.

"Well, what shall I do, Tom?" asked the sweet young wife, anxiously.

"Send it back to the shop or telephone for the doctor!"
